Dear

Mr. Silver:

"The Oxford Disaster---Price of Defiance," by Karl Wiesenburger, published in pamphlet form by the Chronicle of this city, has had a most encouraging reception. An initial, random distribution of 5,000 copies was made. Some of us, located in various parts of the state, want to provide a more wide-spread coverage. Our primary objective is to clear up some very muddled water and make possible a realistic approach to a difficult problem. We are aware, however, that the desired distribution would redound to the benefit of certain candidates for public office, this year and in the future.

I am underwriting the cost of printing and mailing a minimum of 10,000 additional copies to cover elected officials, lawyers, doctors, clergymen, etc., as far as they will go and to the extent that contributions are received to defray the cost.

Copies to elected officials, members of the Bar and physicians will be mailed from Jackson with Rep. Wiesenburger's return address on the envelopes. It is hoped that distribution to other groups can be sponsored (at least to the extent of a return address) by some well-known members of said groups.

Costs will amount to 9¢ per copy for printing and about 5¢ for mailing. Contributions should be remitted to the Chronicle with an "A/C Henry A. Fly" notation on the bottom thereof. Or handle same with me, directly if preferred. Contributors are assured of complete anonymity.

Each pamphlet will bear the notation that additional copies, in lots of ten or more, can be obtained from The Chronicle at 10¢ per copy. Remittances for such special orders should not, of course, be made to my account.

The mailing should begin about March 10th. If the cost of the 10,000 is over-subscribed, we will keep on going. Please pass the word around where you think it will do some good. Also, send me names of persons who would be interested in receiving a copy of this letter.

Sincerely,

Henry A. Fly
